No Mow May

We have chosen not to cut the grass of the Blackwell Hall lawn until June. This is to boost biodiversity, support pollinators, and improve lawn health by allowing wild plants to flower.

Thought for the week: More Than a Migrant: A Human Story

Caroline Chisholm, remembered by the Church on 16th May, lived at a time when migrants arrived full of hope but often ended up facing real hardship. Instead of joining in with blame or criticism, she chose the more difficult path, compassion. Back in the nineteenth century, she gave her time and energy to support vulnerable migrants arriving in Australia, especially young women and struggling families. She set up shelters, helped people find jobs, and stood up for those who were being overlooked or pushed aside. Her example still speaks into our world today. Here in Britain, conversations about migration can easily become tense, shaped by fear, frustration, or division. Migrants are talked about as if they are problems to deal with, rather than people with stories, struggles, and hopes. Caroline Chisholm challenges us to see things differently. After all, Jesus himself knew what it meant to be displaced. As a child, he was taken to Egypt for safety. The Gospel keeps reminding us that every person carries God's image. That doesn't mean ignoring real challenges, but it does mean holding on to our humanity. Caroline's life reminds us that faith isn't just about what we say in church. It's about how we treat others — especially those who are far from home, vulnerable, and in need of hope. Fr Ninus

Trusting Those Who Have Died to God's Goodness. We offer our condolences to Brian's family and friends. Brian was a lifelong member of the congregation at All Saints Harrow Weald and was one of its staunchest supporters. He will be remembered for his superbly curated wine tasting evenings. These combined with outreach for our mission with great fun for all. Brian alone made it possible for All Saints to pay for the new organ. He was known for his giving and continued interest he showed in the church and its future. Brian will be missed by many of the congregations which he took as his friends. May you rest in peace and rise in glory. Brian Jones R.I.P.
